

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates an isolated human Site-1 Protease promoter region. The invention also relates to screening methods for agents decreasing the expression of 5 Site-1 protease and thereby being potentially useful for the treatment of medical conditions related to obesity and/or diabetes.

30186294.doc